Citrus Processors Meetings Records
1951-1963; 1977

Historical Sketch:

The Citrus Processors Meetings began in 1950 as part of the collaboration between the University of Florida's Citrus Experiment Station (now known as the Citrus Research and Education Center) in Lake Alfred, Florida and the Florida Citrus Commission (now known as the Florida Department of Citrus). The collaboration between the two organizations initially began in 1947, after the 1941 Florida Citrus Code established the creation of a Florida Citrus Commission research department to be housed at the Citrus Experiment Station. Each year, researchers have gathered at these meetings to share their latest research as well as industry news. By 1999, the event had become known as the Annual Citrus Processors' Day.

Scope and Content Note:

This collection contains the programs for the 2nd through 14th as well as the 28th annual meetings held at the University of Florida's Citrus Experiment Station in Lake Alfred, Florida. Each program contains the schedule of events in addition to the research reports presented at each meeting. The collection is organized chronologically.

Restrictions: None

Permission to Publish:

Permission to publish material from the Citrus Processor Meetings Records must be obtained from Sarah D. and L. Kirk McKay, Jr. Archives Center or the appropriate copyright holder. Please inquire if you have questions at 863-680-4453.

Provenance Statement:

As part of his donation to the Thomas B. Mack Citrus Archives in 1979, Emory Cocke included some of the Citrus Processors Meetings programs. It is unknown when the rest of the materials in this collection were donated to the Citrus Archives. The Thomas B. Mack Citrus Archives were transferred to the Roux Library in 2005 then to the McKay Archives Center in 2009.

Note to Researchers:

Please note this collection is not to be confused with the Florida Citrus Processors Association (FCPA) Records. While the organizations all collaborate with one another, FCPA is independent of both CREC and FDOC.
